Money Partners Group operates a financial instruments business, mainly in foreign exchange margin trading. The Group does not prepare earnings forecasts because it is difficult to predict the Group's earnings, which are heavily affected by fluctuation in exchange rates, market liquidity, and other aspects of the market environment, as well as the economic environments in Japan and overseas, and other factors. The Group publishes a Monthly Report instead, which includes operating revenues and other information such as foreign exchange trading volume, customer accounts, and other information that heavily impact financial results. The supplementary information on quarterly financial results (available only in Japanese) scheduled for disclosure on November 7, 2023, also contains information on the trend in selling, general and administrative expenses, which heavily affect financial results.

Money Partners Group recognizes that long-term, consistent creation and enhancement of corporate value is fundamental to providing returns to our shareholders. We therefore position consistent, reasonable return to shareholders as one of the highest priority issues in management. Our basic policy on dividends from retained earnings is to pay dividends twice a year at the end of the second quarter and at fiscal year-end. The Group targets a dividend payout ratio of 50% of consolidated net income attributable to owners of parent, based on consideration of overall financial performance, the business environment, and other pertinent factors, while keeping in mind the balance between internal reserves for investment needed to improving operating performance and consistent, reasonable returns to shareholders. We plan to disclose the dividend forecast once it has been prepared for disclosure.

Money Partners Group will post the supplementary information on quarterly financial results (available only in Japanese) on the TDnet timely disclosure network operated by the Tokyo Stock Exchange and on our corporate website, on November 7, 2023.
