- (Notes) 1. Foreign exchange trading volume is the sum of customer transactions in each currency, using base currency units. Trading volume has not been converted into yen.
2. The number of customer accounts and foreign exchange margin deposits are end-of-month figures.
3. Money Partners started contract-for-difference (CFD-metals) trading in August 2011. Margin deposits, trading volume (currency units converted to USD) and trading revenues in CFD-metals are included in foreign exchange margin deposits, foreign exchange trading volume, and operating revenues, respectively.
4. Foreign exchange margin deposits are presented separately for transactions from general customers and from financial institutions that are B-to-B customers.
5. From March 2022, crypto asset contract-for-difference (CFD) trading (margin deposits and trading volume (trading value converted to USD) in CFD transactions) are included in foreign exchange margin deposits and foreign exchange trading volume, respectively.
6. The Manepa Card business (funds transfer business) terminated services on September 29, 2023.

<Overview of March>

In March, the U.S. dollar (USD) began forex market trading in the lower 150-yen range. The USD weakened to the monthly low in the mid 146-yen range on March 8, when U.S. employment statistics for February revealed that the unemployment rate had neared the high level of 4% and growth in average hourly wages had unperformed market expectations. Dollar buying ensued when the U.S. Consumer Price Index (CPI) for February was announced on March 12, exceeding market expectations. At the Bank of Japan (BOJ) Monetary Policy Meeting held on March 19, BOJ decided to rescind the negative interest rate policy and make other revisions to large-scale easing, while projecting a continuance of the relaxed monetary environment. This led to further dollar buying. The dovish statement by Naoki Tamura, member of the BOJ Policy Board, on March 27 caused the USD to temporarily rise to the 151.97-yen range (monthly high) for the first time since July 1990, 33 years and 8 months ago. Dollar selling ensued following a warning of forex intervention by the Japanese government and the USD ended the month in the mid 151-yen range.

The currencies for Europe and Oceania, which are the main currencies traded other than the USD, reached monthly highs against the yen on March 20 for the currencies of Europe and March 21 for the currencies of Oceania, and subsequently trended downward to the end of the month.

The daily average price range for the USD/JPY increased to 0.960 (compared to 0.884 yen in February), increasing from February for currency pairs, mainly for cross-currency pairs against the yen, and resulting in an overall increase in forex market volatility from February.

Amid these conditions, the Money Partners Group began a campaign on October 2 on the Partners FX nano platform, offering a zero spread (0.0 yen, same bid and ask price) on orders up to our specified volume for the five currency pairs of USD/JPY, EUR/JPY, AUD/JPY, GBP/JPY, and Mexican peso (MXN)/JPY from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 a.m. on the next day. We are continuing the campaign on the Partners FX nano platform substantially expanding the order volume from 10,000 to 50,000 currency units for each transaction in the USD/JPY offering a zero spread (0.0 yen, same bid and ask price).

We are also continuing our efforts to narrow the spread during Golden Manepa time (from 5:00 p.m. to 3:00 a.m. on the next day).

We are continuing services providing the narrowest spreads in the industry on over 15 currency pairs, including the USD/JPY and AUD/JPY, on both the Partners FX and Partners FX nano platforms. In addition to the above campaigns, we expanded the timespan during which we offer a spread of 0.002 yen on the USD/JPY currency pair to 20 hours (from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 a.m. on the next day) from February 12, the longest timespan in the industry. To provide a better trading environment for customers during the U.S. Easter holidays, we continued to offer fixed spreads on the USD/JPY on Partners FX on Friday, March 29, which is Good Friday, and on 18 currency pairs during Golden Manepa time on Partners FX on April 1, Easter Monday.

In addition to the above campaigns, we launched a campaign offering a digital gift according to trading volume, once a week, and are conducting various campaigns, including a campaign offering a maximum of 3 million yen in cash back according to new transaction volume in the target currency pairs for the EUR, GBP, and AUD, which are the main currencies handled.

We are conducting a campaign offering a spread of 0.2 pips on Gold/USD and on Silver/USD in CFD-

Metals trading, during the same hours as Golden Manepa Time for our FX trading platforms (from 5:00 p.m. to 3:00 a.m. on the next day). We also improved the Gold/USD swap points on purchases to the highest level in the industry, beginning in December.

The above factors resulted in a 1% decrease in foreign exchange trading volume from February to 83.8 billion currency units. Operating revenues were 497 million yen, a 19% increase from February. This increase came from increases in both profitability on trading volume and system-related sales. Foreign exchange margin deposits fell for both general customers and financial companies, decreasing by 813 million yen from February to 45,178 million yen overall.

The Board of Directors proposed a resolution setting the year-end dividend forecast at 5.00 yen per share for fiscal year ending March 31, 2024 at the Board of Directors meeting held on March 15, 2024. If this year-end dividend is approved at the Board of Directors meeting in May and at the General Meeting of Shareholders scheduled in June of this year, we expect the annual dividend to be 11.00 yen per share. We decided to raise the target for dividend payout ratio from the previous 30% to 50% of net profit attributable to owners of parent at the Board of Directors meeting held on March 15, 2023. The resolution proposing this interim dividend is based on the dividend payout ratio target after it was increased.

Money Partners submitted an application selecting the TSE Standard Market on September 15, 2023 and switched from the Prime Market to the Standard Market on October 20. Despite the selection request, the numerical targets set in the plan to meet criteria for maintaining listing on the Prime Market were deferred. We will continue to implement various measures aimed at achieving the plan, revise our targets and measures as appropriate, and strive to further enhance corporate value to grow Money Partners into a company that meets the new listing standards for the Prime Market.
